Ann Landers

Dear R.E.F.: Juveniles who break the law should be sent to detention homes and taught a trade while they are serving time. Locking up teenagers with hardened criminals only serves to teach them more tricks. Often they are worse when they get out than when they went in. Court records show that 88 per cent of the young offenders are back in jail within two years.

Better paid juvenile authorities and a strong rehabilitation program would be a step in the right direction. And we need funds to build more detention homes and to educate the personnel (yes and troubled and ignorant parents) on how to deal with young hoodlums.

Dear Ann: The man who called himself "Monkey's Uncle" startled me into unconsciousness. It's the first time I ever heard a man admit that keeping house is work.

My husband comes home and says, "What did you do all day?" When I say I did the wash (for seven people) he says — "YOU did it? You mean the machine, don't you?" I could strangle him.

He works in a manufacturing plant, and I know he works hard. If I ever suggested to him that the machines did HIS work he'd blow up.

I have often secretly wished that I'd break a leg on a Saturday or Sunday so he'd have to take over completely — just for one day. But that wouldn't work because he'd probably call my mother. — TIRED

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teenage Smoking," enclosing your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. (C) 1961, Field Enterprises, Inc.

New Home Auxiliary Makes Plans

The second monthly meeting of the new Children's Home Society Auxiliary was conducted by the president, Mrs. John Kessler at the home of Mrs. James Keefe.

Many of the Auxiliaries have chosen names from children's stories.

Plans were made to tour Children's Home Society on Wednesday, May 24, at which time one of the social workers will speak to the members on the aims and purposes of Children's Home Society and the Auxiliaries.

An Interpretation Tea is being planned for Tuesday, June 6, at the home of Mrs. James Struberg, 25624 Richville Dr., Torrance. Local persons interested in family and child welfare will be invited to acquaint them with the services of Children's Home Society to the child, the natural parents, and the adoptive parents.
